

Sedgwick County Fair Mutton Bustin' Application and Liability Form

Mutton Bustin' tests the ability of young cowboys and cowgirls by putting them on the back of a sheep and holding on for dear life. The sheep are loaded into a small chute. The rider, wearing a Northeast Colorado Health Department approved helmet, climbs on the sheep and grabs onto its wool. The chute is opened and the sheep runs into the arena with the competitor hanging on for as long as possible. All cowboys and cowgirls receive a reward for their participation.

Mutton Bustin' will take place Saturday after the catch-it contest in the indoor arena.
